Important Cat facts to know!

- Did you know that Cats do not behave the same when in boarding from when at home (particularly with first time boarders or cat that do not board frequently)
- They may over groom due to boredom or stress causing extra fur balls or fur ball build up.
- A Cat often do not want to eat the same food they eat at home due to their strong sense of smell – they can smell the food that other cats at the cattery may be having and turn off their prescribed diet or requested diet. Every effort is made to manage this at Corporate Cats.
- Even the most out going cat may stay in hiding for the duration of their stay due to the day to day activity at the cattery (even though we try to create a peaceful environment) OR they may experience panic attacks when they are first bought in. On occasions some cats may remain in hiding and in fact eat or drink very little. If your cat is a big drinker of water, you should report this on check in to enable Corporate Cats' staff to monitor drinking habits. Every effort is made to manage this at Corporate Cats.
- Cats may have an undiagnosed illness or complaint which may not be present on check in but develop or present itself due to change of environment or stress while boarding. Corporate Cats' Staff make every effort to supervise and check the well being of all cats in our care. These illnesses or complaints could be an undetected, eye trouble, cat scratch or bite, blood in urine or droppings.
